to a brighter future

Expert volunteers provide pro-bono financial advice to help low to moderate income individuals.

Financial planners analyze each client's financial situation, answer any questions and try to give each client five (or more) very specific concrete action steps that they can take immediately to improve their financial situation. Possible topics may include: how to create a savings and spending plan, homeownership readiness, debt to income ratios, analyze rent versus buy decisions, strategies on improving credit score, tips to lower expenses, and how to work with creditors.

In addition to private consultations, Britepaths also offers workforce development support, financial literacy classes and a longer-term financial mentoring program.

This 11th annual event is a cooperative effort of Prince William, Fairfax, Arlington and Loudoun Counties; the cities of Alexandria and Falls Church; Virginia Housing; and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Event manager is Laura Nickle of Communi-k, Inc.; fiscal agent is First Home Alliance, a Woodbridge, Va. nonprofit.
